

Canaan Valley (or the Canadian Valley), WV in all its winter splendor (2-21-21) with a snow cover of around 2 feet (61 cm). It was reported that its low temperature this morning of -19° F (-28° C) was the lowest in the continental U.S. Note the thin veil of ice fog on the super cold valley floor temperature inversion this morning.

Canaan Valley is only 125 miles due west (as the crow flies) of the infamously mild Washington-Regan National Airport located adjacent to downtown Washington DC.

Written by Bob Leffler, our best weather friend secretly known as the FEARLESS WEATHERMAN.